

Riders of the Week

November 7 – November 11

Clay Snider has been chosen by Mrs. Gregory for Rider of the Week. Clay's favorite book is The Bible, and his favorite movie is 8 Seconds. His role model is his father because he is "a very good, hardworking, passionate, loving dad." Clay says he is "very blessed to call him dad. I'm so thankful for all he does and just to know he is a part of my life." When Clay graduates, he wants to become a railroad engineer and raise bucking bulls in order to become a PBR/PRCA stock contractor. For fun, Clay says, "I love spending time with my beautiful girlfriend, Madelyn Eaves, along with my family and friends. I also ride bulls and spend lots of time redeoing. When I get the chance, I love to hunt and fish." Mrs. Gregory chose Clay for several reasons. She says, "Clay is the type of student teachers love to teach. Clay always asks questions when he is unsure, and always knows exactly where he is in his learning process. Clay is kind to everyone in class, and will go the extra mile to teach or help his peers. Clay is always very respectful and such a joy to have in class."

Coach Munoz has chosen Carsen Vickers for Rider of the Week. Carsen's favorite book is The Bible. Her role model is her grandmother. Carson says, "She always put everyone's needs before hers, and she always had a smile. She taught me to love everyone and always be kind." When Carsen graduates, she wants to become a heart surgeon because she loves to help people. Until then, Carsen will continue doing what she loves: "I am involved in FFA, Cheer, HOSA, and JCC. I love going to contests for FFA, cheering for the Riders, learning about Health Science, and I love helping my community." Coach Munoz chose Carsen because she "is a hardworking student. She is always on top of all of her classwork despite being involved in many school activities such as FFA and cheerleading. She always comes to class with a smile and is well liked by her classmates. She is a good role model for all her peers."
