

Riders of the Week

January 17 - January 20

Jose Torres

Jose Torres has been chosen for Rider of the Week by Doug Moore. His favorite movie is Captain America: Civil War and for fun he enjoys playing his guitar. His role models are his parents because they sacrifice themselves for him to give him a better life. When he grows up Jose wants to pursue a career of Mechanical Engineering at Texas A&M. Jose's role models are his parents because they sacrifice themselves for him to have a better life. When he grows up Jose wants to be a mechanical engineer. Mr. Moore said, "Jose is the personification of the idea that 'still water runs deep.' He is a quiet and very respectful young man, but has a mind that is always working. In class he is a self starter that takes care of business. He has a quiet confidence that lets you know he will be successful in the future."

Caroline Scull has been chosen for Rider of the Week by Mrs. Corbello. Her favorite movie is The Age of Adaline and for fun she likes to play tennis, dance with the chaparrals, snow ski, and have fun with friends. Her role model is her grandmother because she encourages Caroline and helps her to be the best she can be in school and sports. When she grows up Caroline would like to be a lawyer because she feels like the government field is very interesting and she can help many people. Mrs. Corbello said, "Caroline is a very responsible young lady who strives to do her very best. She is willing to help others who are struggling or confused with a smile on her face."
