

Riders of the Week

February 13 – February 17

Cheyenne Byrnes

Cheyenne Byrnes has been chosen for Rider of the Week by Sydney Brookshire. Her favorite book/movie series is Harry Potter specifically the Prisoner of Azkaban. For fun, she likes to play soccer, run, read, and take naps. Cheyenne's role models are her mom because she has continuously been there for Cheyenne and does more than she could ever ask for, and her dad because he has provided Cheyenne with everything, and is always there for her. When she grows up Cheyenne wants to be a lawyer because she loves a good challenge, and so she can make enough money to adopt and foster kids. Brookshire said, "Cheyenne is a blessing in my life. She is funny, kind, smart, and values helping others. That's my favorite thing about Cheyenne: Her kind heart is always looking for new ways to help and engage with those around her. She keeps me sane, and is always the first to step up when a problem arises on the Lariat staff. She is only a sophomore, but she carries herself with the confident attitude of a senior. I love her!"

Randy Broadway has been chosen for Rider of the Week by Mrs. Low. His role models are his parents because they work so hard to take care of him. When he grows up Randy wants to work in law or business because they both intrigue him. For fun, he likes to watch TV and play on his playstation. Mrs. Low said, "Randy is always smiling. He is funny and enjoys making others laugh. His positive attitude always brings up the people around him."
