

Riders of the Week

February 13 – February 17

Karen Cordoba has chosen Rachael Bressman for Rider of the Week. Her favorite movie is Sing because it is animated and animals sing. Her favorite book is Grumpy Cat because it is a funny book. Her mother is her role model because she is kind and takes good care of Karen and helps her with her homework. When Karen grows up, she plans on becoming a doctor because a doctor checks on and helps people if something is wrong with them. For fun, Karen enjoys playing outside on her laptop and watching videos. Karen's teacher says, "Karen is a joy to have in class. She works hard, not to just make good grades. She wants to understand what she is learning. Karen is always asking me questions trying to expand her vocabulary and learn new things. The quality that I find most impressive about Karen is that she is not afraid to ask questions. She understands that in order to learn, she has to ask good questions. Karen is respectful and responsible, and I am so proud that she is one of my students."

Ms. Bressman has also chosen Junior Perez for Rider of the Week. His favorite movie and book are both from the Goosebumps series because they are scary! His role model is his brother Carlos because they play XBOX, football, and play with their baby brother. He loves to work and play with his brothers in the summer time. When Junior grows up, he wants to be a firefighter because he can drive the fire truck and save the people! His teacher says, "Junior Perez is the perfect example of Rider of the Week. He has a great attitude about everything that he does. Fifth grade is not always easy, but Junior gives me 100 percent of his effort. Junior is responsible and takes care of whatever has been assigned to him. He never misses doing his reading log and his homework is always turned in complete and on time. His work ethic should be a great example to others."
