

Riders of the Week

January 19 – January 22

Michael Smith has been chosen by Michael Garcia for Rider of the Week. Michael enjoys riding his four-wheeler, spending money and watching his favorite movie, Straight Outta Compton. His role model is Kevin Gates because he inspires people to never settle for less, but instead strive for more. When Michael grows up, he wants to become a chemist because he wants to know more about chemicals and their impact on the environment. Coach Garcia says, “He is hands-down, the most improved student. Michael has made a complete 180 with his academics and his attitude. He might have to work harder than the other students, but that doesn’t matter because I am noticing his hard work, and I am glad I am able to reward him accordingly, finally. Keep up the good work!”

Coach Garcia has also chosen Decen Lin for Rider of the Week. He enjoys playing football with friends, fishing, and hunting. His favorite movie is Ridiculous 6 and Pixels, and his favorite book is Maze Runner. Decen’s role model is his father because he teaches him how to become a better person and pushes him to be the greatest. When Decen grows up, he plans on becoming a mechanical engineer because he loves building stuff and designing. Mr. Garcia says, “Decen is a great, young student athlete. He has a tremendous work ethic and at such a young age, that is hard to find. He does whatever you ask of him without hesitation. He has a bright future at CHS and an even greater future once he graduates. I can’t wait to see what this young man becomes.”
