

Riders of the Week

April 11 – April 15

Chloe Gipson

Chloe Gipson has been chosen for Rider of the Week by Doug Moore. Chloe loves to hang out with friends, watch her favorite movie, My Fair Lady, and attend sporting events. On any given day, Chloe says she is either at a football game, basketball, soccer, or baseball game! “Purple Reign!” Chloe wants to go into the medical field after graduation because she loves to help people. She says, “People face so many problems in the world, and I want to be a part of the solution.” Her role model is Denzel Washington because he is an amazing actor and a humble individual. He has inspired her to get into theater. Mr. Moore says, “I have had the good fortune to be around Chloe for the last four years. She is the epitome of style and substance. In class she works harder than most, even in classes (like Pre-Cal) that aren't her favorites. In UIL she is always the same gracious in both victory and defeat. Chloe is one of those rare people that can brighten up any situation.”

Mr. Moore has also chosen Chris Luna for Rider of the Week. Chris's favorite books are To Kill a Mockingbird and Paper Towns. He enjoys watching movies and going fishing in lake Pinkston. His father is his role model because he has risen over all he has had to overcome: kidney failure and a broken back. He has not let anything come in his way to stop him, and he keeps working harder. When Chris grows up, he wants to be a forensic pathologist because he finds the subject intriguing, and he wants to solve murder mysteries using science. Mr. Moore says, “I have only started working with Chris in class this year. My first impression of him was that he was a very shy person. As I have gotten to know him, I have come to realize that there is a very focused and complex person underneath. He has a very quiet but great sense of humor. Chris wants to do well and with his focus, will be very successful in his life after CHS.”
